

Plaza? Sweet!

When you think of big New York movie stars, there's De Niro, and Woody Allen — and The Plaza Hotel, which has been the setting for scores of films since it opened 110 years ago.

Here's an exclusive look at three photos from a delightful, photo-resplendent new book from Patty Farmer, Starring The Plaza: Hollywood, Broadway, and High Society Visit the World's Favorite Hotel. Clockwise: Fred Astaire and Cyd Charisse catching a carriage ride in The Band Wagon (1953); George Hamilton stepping out for a midnight snack in Love At First Bite (1979); and Jane Fonda and Robert Redford soon to be Barefoot in the Park (1967).

Illustrated with 180 photos, featuring a forward by Mirtzi Gaynor, Starring The Plaza (Beaufort Books, $34.99) goes on sale August 21.
